

Local Artist Makes Memories

When your child was born, the first thing you did was count her fingers and toes and marvel at their perfection. Now, local stay-at-home mom Lisa Torres is making it possible for Pensacola parents to capture their babies' hands and feet, forever preserving a moment in time.

Lisa operates a Wee Piggies franchise, which is a business with moms in mind that specializes in Life Cast Statues of children's hands and feet. "The statues are so detailed you can even see finger and toe prints and pores!" she laughs. "My husband was dismayed when even his hang nails showed up!"

To create her artwork, she takes casts of your babies' hands and feet. Then, if you want a shadow box, Lisa will mount and frame the castings, perhaps with a photo and some sweet words. Besides the shadow boxes, Lisa creates statues and ornaments for families. For more information on Wee Piggies, visit www.weepiggies.com.
